All my buddies over there want a deal. They've been trying for 12 years to get a deal. During my time French, Brits and Germans tried. I didn't join the effort and gave them encouragement. I don't trust Iranians----almost went to jail over IranContra. When I left they persuaded Condi to become a full fourth partner. Iranians were delighted. But no deal. Hillary four years, no deal. Kerry 2+ ??? They say, correctly, that they have every right to enrich for energy. Russians helped build a power reactor at Busher. Can't get enough sanctions to break them. Lots of bs around about their progress. Bibi likes to say "a year away," as do our intel guys. They say it every years. I ain't that easy to do.

I never understand that argument. If he doesn't want "one," how many does he want? Hundreds also? If he can't – and won't-- use it, then make a deal that gives us real comfort th

And if they get one, Saudi wants one, and so does everyone else.

What do your friends in Abu Dhabi think?
